The door to Latin art and objets d'art in Asia

Mauricio Garrido

b. 1974, Seville, Santiago, Chile

Mauricio Garrido's work is often described as Neo-Baroque. His multi-layered collages reference various different media such as sculpture, collage, textiles and video art. His work alludes to codes of representation present throughout the history of art, and is particularly focused on the figure in order to depict allegory as a visual language.

Garrido studied Fine Arts at Universidad de Chile and his collages have been exhibited in Latin America, Europe, Asia and the USA. Boasting works in Elton John's private collection, the Museo Diego Rivera Anahuacalli, in México, and Colección CCU in Chile.

He has won the Scholarship for Artistic Creators Haiti and Latin America in Mexico Program (FONCA-AECID), the Andes Foundation Scholarship and international Art Fairs, such as CUTLO NY, Ch.ACO Santiago, Zona MACO Mexico City, and Art Central, Hong Kong.

Mauricio Garrido is based in Santiago, Chile, and is represented worldwide by Galería Isabel Croxatto.
